

Salopian Health & Safety Consultancy

CIEH Level 1 Award in Induction into Safety in Food Premises

Designed for those entering the workplace for the first time, this qualification provides a basic awareness of key safety issues and the role everyone should play in keeping themselves and others free from harm at work.

Who needs this qualification?

Anyone entering the workplace for the first time – either as part of a work experience programme or at the start of employment – and those who are starting a new job (as part of an induction programme) in food premises.

Why is this training important?

Employers are legally responsible for providing health and safety training to their employees and to supervise, train or instruct employees as appropriately required for their work duties.

This qualification provides a great starting point from which more detailed health and safety and/or food safety training (e.g. CIEH Level 2 Awards) can follow.

Learning outcomes

- Appreciate the importance of health and safety in food premises
- Identify the range of hazards associated with food premises and understand how to spot them
- Understand the role of reporting procedures
- Understand the importance of risk control measures in place and identify ways to reduce risks or eliminate hazards

Facts

Duration: Half-day programme

Assessment: Multiple choice examination

Ofqual Accredited: No

Prerequisite: None

Suggested progression: CIEH Level 2 Award in Health and Safety in the Workplace and/or CIEH Level 2 Award in Food Safety in Catering/for Manufacturing/for Retail